A SERENE STOP

Walkers, runners, bicyclists and others who use the Washougal River Greenway Trail in Camas now have several more places to stop and rest. Thanks to a $4,500 contribution from an anonymous donor, five benches were installed by city employees just before Thanksgiving. The 6-foot-long benches are made of recycled redwood plastic. The 1.1-mile paved trail, which includes a 370-foot long pedestrian bridge, opened to the public in July. Trail heads are located on Northeast Third Avenue Loop and at Northeast Second Avenue and Yale Street. For more information, visit www.ci.camas.wa.us.
